

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

REC PROPOSES PEDAL HOPPER TOUR FOR DENVER STARTUP WEEK

GREENWOOD VILLAGE, CO – June 29, 2015 – REC President, James A. Hopkins, proudly announces the proposed participation of REC in the upcoming Denver Startup Week in October 2015. The event will be entered under the ‘design’ category and via Pedal Hopper, tour stops will present a series of fascinating businesses throughout RiNo, Denver’s River North Art District. REC’s interviewer will engage company founders’ insights on how each founder transformed their commercial space into what it is today and why the RiNo community was a good fit for their business. Their presentation would include stops at various commercial spaces yet to be redeveloped, under construction, and fully built out to effectively illustrate the process of re-imagining a business space.

Each stop along the way will feature participants engaged in conversation with company founders or property developers who will speak about design principles used and how the principles align with the companies’ missions.

Between stops, an REC interviewer will direct conversations on the Pedal Hoppers to further discussion of topics at hand and after each stop, we will encourage participants to get on a new Pedal Hopper so that everyone can meet the entire group. A special touch planned throughout the stops will be intermittent RiNo-produced beverage tastings.

What is Denver Startup Week? “Innovation is everywhere. Bringing it to life takes the skills and drive of an entire team; founders, developers, product managers, designers, marketers, sales teams, and makers. Denver Startup Week is where every member of that team can come to learn, grow, and be ready to take on the next challenge.”
